

Week 5. Navigating the “IT”: INTERFACE WITH THE WORLD ~ My Roles as a Parent

JOURNALLING REFLECTIONS: GATEKEEPER, MODEL and GUIDE

How empowered do I feel as I stand at the interface between my child and the world at large?

What are my strengths in these roles? What are my growing edges?

Do I sense that my child (children) need me to step into these roles more fully, or is my child (children) at a stage in life where s/he is able to take on more of this discerning practice him or herself?

Is there anything I'd like to change in my roles as gatekeeper, model, and guide? Are there others in my surroundings who help and support me in these roles? If not, who might I reach out to, so that I can more fully bring the “village” to life around these roles?